- Have fun

Research

Prior to the event at the briefing meeting the award categories, nominees, winners and presenters will be decided upon in conjunction with the client. Also at this meeting, information on the company and its personnel will be obtained. This information will then be included in the award ceremony script, ensuring that we will create a unique and unforgettable experience!

The Event

There are many ways that the awards ceremony can be introduced. For example, if the awards ceremony is going to be part of a lunch or evening event, guests are informed that after the meal there is going to be a talk from a bogus guest speaker on a company-related subject.

In order to appear authentic the speech could have been written by the client. However, just when the guests are least expecting it, the guest speaker throws the speech over his shoulder and reveals that he is really your host and that everyone are guests at the company's annual Awards Ceremony!

Alternatively, the awards ceremony can either be introduced on the day via an offstage announcement or guests can be told in advance to create an air of excitement!

'An outstanding blend of scripting, delivery, humour and timing.
Your performance was brilliant!'
