

DESIGN YOUR OWN GAME

BAFTA
YOUNG
GAME DESIGNERS

LEARN FROM THE BEST!

Want to design your own video game, learn from the professionals and be in with a chance to win some utterly amazing prizes? Then BAFTA Young Game Designers is for you!

BAFTA Young Game Designers is an exciting new competition for 11–16 year olds. Working in a team of three, you and two friends get creative and plan, write and illustrate your idea for a new video game.

The winning team will be announced at the glittering EA British Academy Children's Awards in London in November. The prize includes work experience with professional game designers at Bright Light, an EA studio, and a working prototype of the winning entry developed by the games boffins at Abertay University!

To enter visit www.bafta.org/ygd. The website is packed full of useful stuff to help you, including a step-by-step guide to games design, information about free workshops around the UK, and top tips from some of the big names in UK video game design.

BRITISH ACADEMY OF FILM AND TELEVISION ARTS

Principal
funding partner

NESTA Making Innovation Flourish

Partners

Abertay University

The closing date for the competition is Monday
18 October 2010.