Dickie Dazzler at BAFTA 2009

'Lights, Camera Action!' is a fast-moving movie quiz that has been specifically written to form an exciting addition to your day or evening event at BAFTA. Hosted by the sparkling Dickie Dazzler, this high-impact, challenging and above all, entertaining movie quiz is the perfect addition to a lunch, dinner, or even as a surprise session to your company conference!

The show includes rounds based on identifying classic lines of movie dialogue, naming iconic movie themes, as well testing the audience's general movie knowledge in a variety of amusing and entertaining ways!

Each table is a team and with rounds such as
Movie Song Sizzler, Film Title Teaser, It's All In The Script,
The Big Bond Bonanza, Disney Dilemma & Dickie...!

Everyone is made to feel part of the fun!

"A superb and masterful performance!"

If the Movie Quiz is to form part of a lunch or dinner, each table becomes a team and the question rounds can correspond to the serving of each course of the meal. There is also the option of having the Movie Quiz as a stand-alone event after lunch or dinner. The format allows for the show to be presented in any number of different ways, depending on your specific event and time scales.

The format of the Movie Quiz is very flexible, as it can be adapted to suit all types of audiences. If budget permits we can write a personalised opening section to the Movie Quiz followed by a company related comedy Awards Ceremony.

Nick Gough (aka Dickie! – the Movie Quiz host) has worked in the entertainment and television industry for over 20 years. He has entertained hundreds of corporate and private audiences all over the UK and Europe. Nick's quick-witted repartee and infectious personality means he is constantly in demand writing and hosting award ceremonies, corporate events, product launches, road shows and numerous private parties and special occasions. Recently 'Dickie' and his assistant 'Suzy Su' (Actress Amanda Humphrey) hosted three shows at Symantec's Global Conference in Las Vegas.
